TAKE CONTROL + PROSPER

In 2002, there were 5 workers that supported each individual retiree.
The taxes from these five workers go towards paying for a retiree's age pension, health and aged care concessions.

The Government has estimated that by 2042 there will be only two and a half workers that will support each individual retiree.

That means in 2042, each worker will be required to double the level of support that they currently provide. Will the taxes of these two and a half workers provide the same level of support as the five workers of 2002?

No

Does this mean Government taxes will increase?
